Investment Objective	Generate long-term capital appreciation with enhanced risk-adjusted returns by allocating to Indian-listed companies demonstrating superior ESG (Environmental, Social, and Governance) performance and sustainable corporate governance.
Investment Rationale	Lower long-term risk and greater resilience: Strong ESG practices reduce exposure to regulatory, environmental, and reputational shocks, improving downside protection for investors. Potential for superior risk-adjusted returns: Companies with excellent ESG profiles often show better operational efficiency, governance, and long-term strategic alignment, supporting sustainable earnings and investor returns. Improved access to capital and stakeholder support: High ESG scores attract institutional investors, preferential financing, and customer loyalty, enhancing growth prospects and valuation multiples.
Investment Methodology	Equities/ETFs Portfolio: <ol style="list-style-type: none"> 1. Universe Definition: The investment universe encompasses securities from listed companies within the NSE 500 Index and all exchange-traded funds (ETFs), which are rigorously filtered based on qualitative measures aligned with predefined investment objectives and rationales. 2. Systematic Identification: Proprietary algorithms, advanced quantitative models, and technical analysis are utilized to systematically identify securities with a high probability of delivering superior returns. 3. Data-Driven Framework: These models, thoroughly validated across diverse asset classes and various time horizons, integrate customized proprietary indicators such as momentum, volume, volatility, and trend analysis. This approach ensures that the portfolio construction process is entirely based on objective data and high-quality signals, devoid of biases, prejudices, or emotional factors. 4. Optimization of Security Selection: The selection of securities and their corresponding weightings within the Equity/ETF portfolio are further refined based on critical factors, including target portfolio size, ETF allocation, average daily trading turnover, available investment capital, rebalancing frequency, and the number of quantitative and technical criteria met by each security.

About Myself

I am Sai Praveen, a SEBI-registered Equity Research Analyst based in Bangalore.

With over 15 years of experience in teaching and training in Finance and Analytics, I have dedicated several years to integrating trading and investment strategies with quantitative analytics through advanced technologies to develop a robust, highly reliable, and profitable investment system, ensuring its benefits are accessible and affordable for all types of investors, from small capital investors to high-net-worth individuals.

My investment system incorporates fundamental and qualitative aspects while being firmly grounded in mathematical and statistical models. By utilising quantitative and technical analysis, it aims to create optimal equity portfolios with the highest probabilities of growth. My investment system has undergone rigorous testing across multiple time frames, market conditions, stock groups, asset classes, and instruments, utilising both historical data (of over past 30 years) and live market scenarios to optimise its performance and enhance its reliability.

Driven by a long-term vision to be an integral part of the financial success of thousands of Indian investors, I am committed to continuously enhancing the efficiency of my investment system through the latest technologies. Furthermore, I am dedicated to transferring the benefits of my advancements in quantitative and technical models to my clients, helping them realise their financial goals at the earliest.

I hold an MBA in Finance and have an engineering background. As an assistant professor, I have taught MBA, M.Com, B.E., B.Com, and B.B.A. students at PES University, Dayananda Sagar University, and Manipal Academy of Higher Education.

The Best Features of My Services

1. SEBI-registered Model Portfolio Services

As a SEBI-registered Research Analyst, my "Model Equity Portfolio Services" are fully compliant with SEBI regulations.

2. Tailored Portfolios

Investors can select and subscribe to a 'Model Equity Portfolio' based on their preferences across various portfolio parameters.

3. Accessibility

Subscribers can receive updates on their "Model Equity Portfolios" and associated research reports directly to their mobile devices, making them readily accessible at any time through a simple text message.

4. Optimised by Quants and Technicals

My "Model Equity Portfolios" are optimised using quantitative and technical models, focusing on weightings that align with the investment parameters outlined in the subscription plan. This approach is specifically designed to deliver a portfolio with the highest likelihood of generating favourable returns.

5. Rule-Based Investment System

My "Model Equity Portfolios" are entirely constructed based on established rules defined by my quantitative and technical models. This approach eliminates any potential for bias, prejudice, emotions, or sentiments that can often mislead investors.

6. Robust Investment Methodology

The investment methodology utilized in my model is robust enough to incorporate a variety of qualitative and quantitative parameters, technical factors, and portfolio criteria tailored to the diverse needs of investors, thereby producing an optimal portfolio that addresses all these considerations.

7. Affordability

Subscription plans are available for investors, with annual fees ranging from ₹0 to ₹1,51,000, allowing for choices that accommodate varying levels of affordability. Additionally, I offer instant discounts based on various criteria, further enhancing the accessibility of these plans.

8. Transparency

The investment journey is an extended process filled with uncertainties stemming from various factors. As a professional research analyst, it is my responsibility to keep my clients informed about all potential opportunities and challenges that may arise, thereby minimising the likelihood of encountering shocks and surprises. Therefore, I am dedicated to sharing critical information regarding the "Model Equity Portfolio," including potential risks, the methodologies employed, and essential guidelines. This commitment is made to bolster the trust my clients have in my services.

9. Flexibility

Investors' financial situations can change over time, as can the funds they have committed for investment. My investment system is designed to offer a degree of flexibility to accommodate changes in capital allocations due to systematic investment plans (SIPs), systematic withdrawal plans (SWPs), as well as intermittent capital additions or withdrawals.

10. Simple to Implement

Upon receiving a rebalance update that includes the recommended scripts and quantities, subscribers can review the information and implement the necessary changes to their portfolios as advised. The portfolio updates are expected to take about 5 to 10 minutes each month.

11. Regular Automated Updates

Subscribers will receive regular updates on their mobile devices regarding their model portfolios in accordance with the specified rebalancing frequencies.

12. Reachable

I am accessible via my mobile number for calls and texts on WhatsApp, Telegram, and email, and I ensure that any concerns from subscribers/clients are addressed promptly.

Service Disclosure by Research Analyst:

I am M R Sai Praveen, a SEBI-registered Research Analyst (INH000023560; Registration Date: 10th Oct 2025) dedicated to delivering research insights to investors in securities markets through quantitative and technical analysis. My expertise lies in developing and implementing data-driven, algorithmic methodologies aimed at constructing optimal model portfolios. These models undergo rigorous back testing and refinement to ensure high efficiency, incorporating parameters such as momentum, volatility, position sizing, risk management, rebalancing frequency, trend, and price action. Investors have the opportunity to access customized model portfolios that are tailored to their individual risk tolerance, preferred stock categories, investment timeframes, and financial capabilities.

My primary objective is to support a diverse range of investors, from small retail investors to high-net-worth individuals (HNIs) and institutional investors with longer investment horizons, by providing research insights derived from quantitative and technical models in the form of model portfolios. I am dedicated to continuously enhancing the efficiency of my quantitative and technical models, grounded in robust mathematical and statistical principles. By leveraging technological advancements, I strive to pass on these benefits to my clients, providing them with a competitive edge in their investment decisions.

I confirm that:

1. I am not engaged in any additional professional or business activities, whether on a full-time basis or in an executive capacity, that could influence or compromise the independence of the research reports or recommendations provided.
2. Neither I nor my associates or relatives hold any financial interest in the subject companies.
3. Neither I nor my relatives possess beneficial ownership of 1% or more of the securities of the subject companies as of the end of the month immediately preceding the publication of this research or recommendation.
4. There are no affiliations, connections, or associations between myself, my associates, or relatives and the issuers of the securities or products discussed.
5. I, my associates, and my relatives do not have any actual or potential conflicts of interest arising from associations with the issuers of the securities, nor do we possess material non-public information that could compromise the objectivity or independence of our research and recommendations.
6. No remuneration, consideration, or benefits have been received by me, my associates, or relatives from the securities or products discussed herein.
7. I, my associates, and my relatives have not received any compensation from the subject companies within the past twelve months.
8. We have not participated in managing or co-managing the public offerings of the subject companies in the past twelve months.

9. We have not received any compensation for investment banking, merchant banking, or brokerage services from the subject companies during the last twelve months.
10. No compensation has been received for products or services beyond the scope of investment banking, merchant banking, or brokerage services within the past twelve months.
11. Neither myself, my associates, nor my relatives have received any benefits or compensation from the subject companies or third parties in connection with this research report or recommendations.
12. The subject companies have not been clients of mine or my associates in the twelve months preceding the dissemination of this research.
13. Neither I, my associates, nor my relatives have held positions as officers, directors, or employees of the subject companies.
14. Neither I, my associates, nor my relatives have engaged in market-making activities for the subject companies.

Do's and Don'ts for the Clients:

Do's

1. Always engage with only SEBI-registered Research Analysts.
2. Verify the credentials and the validity of the registration certificate of Research Analysts on the SEBI website:
<https://www.sebi.gov.in/sebiweb/other/OtherAction.do?doRecognisedFpi=yes&intmId=14>
3. Carefully review the research report details and disclosures before proceeding with any investments.
4. Assess your risk tolerance thoroughly to select a subscription that aligns with your financial profile. Risk tolerance indicates your capacity to withstand declines in investment value without panicking or making impulsive decisions. Higher risk portfolios aim for greater long-term growth by including fewer volatile securities, but they also entail increased short-term fluctuations and potential drawdowns during downturns.
5. Maintain a disciplined, long-term investment approach to optimize risk-adjusted growth. Treat your investments as a legacy for your future self, understanding that the full benefits of compounding are best realized over extended periods.
6. Conduct independent, thorough research on the scripts included in the model portfolio prior to investing.
7. Follow a systematic investment process to ensure decisions are unbiased and not emotionally driven.
8. Regularly review updates and rebalancing guidance provided by your research analyst to make informed portfolio adjustments.
9. Prior to subscribing to any plan, connect with your Research Analyst and clarify all your queries.
10. Carefully review the privacy policy, cancellation, and refund policies before subscribing to any plan.
11. Verify the authenticity of the website, email ID, Telegram Bot, Telegram channels, WhatsApp, and mobile contacts when reaching out to your Research Analyst.
12. Exercise caution and ensure the security of your devices used for conducting financial transactions.

Don'ts

1. Avoid falling prey to advertisements promising guaranteed and lucrative returns. Markets are inherently unpredictable, and no individual or entity can control them to ensure specific investment outcomes.
2. Avoid investing funds earmarked for short-term or medium-term financial obligations.
3. Do not depend on investment capital or regular returns from investments to cover your daily or recurring expenses.

4. It is strongly advised against using borrowed funds for securities market investments, as returns are subject to market risks and there are no guaranteed streams of income to service debt. Insufficient returns over time may force investors into riskier assets, significantly increasing the potential for substantial losses and financial instability.
5. Avoid engaging in margin trading, leverage-based positions, intraday trading, or trading in futures and options related to the model portfolio, as these are highly risky and unsuitable for such securities.
6. Never share your demat, trading, or bank account details with anyone, including your Research Analysts.
7. Make payments only through the banking modes prescribed by your Research Analyst; avoid transferring funds through unofficial channels.
8. Refrain from disclosing the details of your portfolio holdings or our Model Portfolio information to third parties (including your friends and relatives). Such disclosures may be interpreted as investment recommendations, which are illegal and subject to prosecution for individuals or institutions not registered as SEBI intermediaries.

Risk Disclosure:

Investments in securities markets are subjected to various types of risk as mentioned below.

1. Market Volatility: Indian securities markets can experience significant fluctuations due to economic indicators, global trends, or investor sentiment, leading to unpredictable price movements.
2. Regulatory and Legal Risks: Changes in regulations, tax policies, or legal frameworks can impact market operations and investor returns.
3. Political Risks: Political instability or policy shifts can influence investor confidence and market performance.
4. Currency Fluctuation Risks: Variations in the Indian Rupee against foreign currencies can affect foreign investors' returns, especially in equity and bond markets.
5. Liquidity Risks: Certain securities or sectors may have limited liquidity, making it difficult to execute buy or sell transactions without impacting prices.
6. Economic Risks: Changes in macroeconomic conditions, such as inflation, interest rates, or GDP growth, directly influence market performance.
7. Foreign Investment Restrictions: Regulations on foreign participation or capital flow restrictions can limit liquidity and market access for international investors.
8. Corporate Governance Risks: Variations in corporate governance standards may impact corporate transparency and investor protections.
9. Global Market Risks: External factors such as international economic conditions, geopolitical tensions, or global financial crises can also adversely affect Indian securities markets.
10. Sector-Specific Risks: Certain sectors may be more susceptible to regulatory changes, global demand shifts, or technological disruptions.

Risk associated with investments in Equities

1. Market Risk: Equities are susceptible to overall market fluctuations, which can lead to significant price volatility and potential losses.
2. Company-Specific Risk: The performance of individual stocks can be affected by company-specific factors such as management issues, financial health, or operational challenges.
3. Liquidity Risk: Certain stocks, especially those of smaller or less-traded companies, may experience low liquidity, making it difficult to buy or sell shares without impacting the price.
4. Economic and Political Risk: Changes in economic conditions or government policies can significantly influence equity prices.
5. Currency Risk: For overseas equities, fluctuations in exchange rates can affect returns for investors.
6. Sector and Industry Risks: Specific sectors or industries may face cyclical downturns, regulatory changes, or technological disruptions that impact stock prices.
7. Volatility Risk: Equities tend to exhibit higher volatility compared to other asset classes, which can lead to unpredictable price swings.
8. Dividend Risk: Companies may reduce or eliminate dividend payments, potentially impacting income-focused investors.
9. Timing Risk: The timing of market entry or exit can significantly influence investment returns, and poor timing can lead to losses.
10. Regulatory and Legal Risks: Changes in laws, regulations, or legal issues can impact company operations and stock valuations.

Risks associated with Investments in ETFs

1. Exchange-Traded Funds (ETFs) carry various risks that investors should consider:

2. Market Risk: ETFs are subject to fluctuations in the overall market, which can affect their value regardless of the underlying assets.
3. Liquidity Risk: Although ETFs are generally liquid, during periods of market stress or for less-traded ETFs, there may be difficulties in buying or selling shares at desired prices.
4. Tracking Error: The ETF's performance may differ from that of its underlying index or assets due to management fees, trading costs, or sampling techniques.
5. Management Risk: Actively managed ETFs are subject to risks associated with the decisions and expertise of the fund manager.
6. Credit Risk: Certain ETFs, such as bond ETFs, are subject to the creditworthiness of the issuers of the underlying securities.
7. Sector or Concentration Risk: ETFs focused on specific sectors or regions may be more volatile and susceptible to sector-specific events or economic downturns.
8. Currency Risk: International ETFs expose investors to currency fluctuations that may impact returns.
9. Structural Risks: ETF structures, such as the use of derivatives or leverage, can introduce additional risks, including potential for magnified losses.
10. Counterparty Risk: In derivative-based ETFs, there is a risk that the counterparty may default on its contractual obligations.
11. Regulatory and Political Risks: Changes in regulations or political environments can affect ETF operations and the value of the underlying assets.

Risks associated with REITs and INVITs:

1. Market Risk: The value of REITs and INVITs can fluctuate significantly due to changes in real estate or infrastructure market conditions, interest rates, and economic cycles.
2. Interest Rate Risk: Rising interest rates may negatively impact the performance and valuation of REITs and INVITs, as higher borrowing costs and alternative investment yields attract investors away.
3. Liquidity Risk: Although listed, these trusts may experience periods of low liquidity, making it challenging to buy or sell units at favourable prices.
4. Asset Specific Risk: The performance of these trusts depends heavily on the underlying assets' occupancy rates, rental income, and operational efficiency, which can be affected by market demand and management quality.
5. Regulatory and Legal Risks: Regulatory changes or legal issues affecting real estate or infrastructure sectors can impact the income generation and stability of these trusts.
6. Economic and Market Risks: Macroeconomic factors such as inflation, economic slowdown, or policy changes can influence property values and infrastructure project viability.
7. Currency Risk (for INVITs): Foreign currency fluctuations can impact the returns for INVIT investors, especially in cross-border infrastructure projects.
8. Development and Construction Risks: For new projects or developments, delays, cost overruns, or project failures may adversely affect income streams and investment returns.
9. Capital Market Risks: Fluctuations in the broader capital markets can influence the valuation and attractiveness of REITs and INVITs.
10. Management Risks: The efficiency and strategies implemented by management can significantly impact the operational success and valuation of these trusts.

Given the various inherent risks, it is imperative that transactional decisions in securities are made only after a comprehensive understanding of the associated risks. Investors are advised to thoroughly evaluate and consider all risk factors, along with their individual risk appetite, prior to making any investment decisions.
